FOREIGN POLICY FOES MAY HEAR BITTER ATTACK

President May Ignore Pleas Of Various Pressure Organizations
TALK TUESDAY AT 9:30
Executive Recognizes That Nation's Fate May Rest On His Shoulders

WASHINGTON, May 26—President Roosevelt will feature tomorrow night's widely heralded broadcast, according to competent authority, with a smashing indictment of those Americans opposing his foreign policy and a stern warning to the axis powers that Uncle Sam is on the alert to repel any attempted encroachment on the Western Hemisphere.

Some quarters believe he will pay his respects to those labor elements that are tying up vital defense industries with strikes. Pressure groups, it was forecast, will get little comfort from the President's momentous Fireside Talk.

Those who have been hammering away at the White House in recent weeks to repeal the Neutrality Law, to convoy war goods to Britain and to employ the Navy with guns unlimbered for action will find no answer to their pleas in the President's utterances tomorrow night, his associates predicted.

Mr. Roosevelt is fully mindful, say these associates, that the NASSAU, B. I., May 26 — Axel Wenner-Gren, Swedish industrialist, today flatly denied reports that he was seeking to convey Nazi peace terms to President Roosevelt in advance of Mr. Roosevelt's scheduled Fireside Talk tomorrow night.

NAZIS KEEPING FILES ON MANY U. S. CITIZENS

WASHINGTON, May 26 — Jan Valtin, former member of the German Gestapo and the Russian GPU, today informed the Dies committee that the Nazi secret police maintained elaborate files on many Americans in the hope that these people can be forced to work for the Reich.

DENNIS PICKENS DIES SUDDENLY

Heart Attack Is Fatal; Funeral Services To Be Tuesday

Dennis O. Pickens, 68, a lifelong resident of Circleville and one of the city's most widely known residents, died suddenly Saturday at 8:45 p. m. at his home, 124 Watt Street.

Mr. Pickens had been in business in Circleville for many years, having retired a few years ago when he sold his Palace Restaurant, South Court Street, to Stone's Grill. He had a large acquaintance throughout central and southern Ohio.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the Albaugh Co. Chapel, the Rev. George L. Troutman officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Pall bearers will include Dr. D. V. Courtwright, Dr. Frederick Schaeffer, Milton E. Friedman, James E. Carpenter, Eliot Henry, John Lamparter, Edwin Shanton, Richard Simkins and David Dunlap.

KING OF GREECE TO MAKE HOME ON ENGLISH SOIL

CAIRO, May 26—Escaping possible capture or even death at the hands of Nazi parachutists in a wild dash from Crete, King George II of Greece prepared today to join the rulers of other German-conquered nations in England.

(Editor's Note: A British radio broadcast picked up by NBC quoted the Grecian monarch as stating: "We are going to England as this is the only country able to continue the fight.")

SHIP CONTRACTS LET
WASHINGTON, May 26—The Maritime Commission today announced it had let contracts for construction of 123 cargo vessels at a cost of $312,000,000.

HYPNOTISM, applied by an expert psychologist, is credited with restoring the memory of this young man who, after wandering Chicago streets for a week, identified himself as Leonard Skapic of Ambridge, Pa.

RAVENNA LABOR ARGUMENT ENDS; 5,000 AT TASKS

RAVENNA, May 26—Work was resumed at the $30,000,000 Ravenna ordnance plant today as approximately 5,000 laborers were reassigned to their jobs.

While it will take a few days to get the plant into full construction swing, arsenal officials were encouraged by the attitude of the men, who last Wednesday walked off their jobs in a "wildcat" strike in protest over wage increases.

"The men seem glad to get back to work," one official said. The wage demands of the laborers will be negotiated only after work is resumed, and, under this plan, arsenal officials felt the question of strikes at the plant had been permanently settled.

PRESIDENT PUTS NAME ON MAJOR CROP MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 26 — In a move of far-reaching consequence to agriculture, President Roosevelt today signed the controversial bill establishing government - guaranteed minimum prices on basic crops for one year by authorizing federal loans on them amounting to 85 percent of parity.

FINAL PLANS FOR CITY CELEBRATION TO BE MADE

Final plans for Circleville Memorial Day services will be made Wednesday night when Legionnaires meet in Memorial Hall at 7:30.

Principal speaker at the services will be the Rev. L. S. Metzler, pastor of the Pickaway United Brethren Church. Three bands, including the Circleville High School band, the Junior band and the VFW band, will be included in the parade. Officer of the day will be E. W. Keys, commander of Post 3331, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

London Hints Sister Ship Of Bismarck Hit During Greenland Battle

CLOSE COMBAT SOUGHT

Nelson, Rodney Among Fast Craft Striving For Decisive Fight

LONDON, May 26—Belief that the new 35,000-ton German battleship Tirpitz may have been hit by a British aerial torpedo was expressed in London today.

The Tirpitz, launched April 1, 1939, is a sister-ship of the Bismarck, the powerful Nazi man-o-war that sank the giant British battle cruiser Hood in Saturday's historic engagement.

Today naval experts in London said they believed the Tirpitz was accompanying the Bismarck and that it "probably" was the target of an aerial torpedo which hit a German vessel Saturday evening.

The admiralty's communique announcing the torpedo hit did not state what German ship had been struck. It said merely that "an attack by our naval aircraft resulted in at least one torpedo hit on the enemy."

Meanwhile, the British North Atlantic fleet, bent on avenging the Hood and the more than 1,300 officers and men lost with her, tenaciously pursued the German squadron as the greatest sea battle of the war roared into its third day.

This morning British warships and naval aircraft were pressing their chase in a mighty effort to bring the Nazi vessels to grips in close and decisive combat.

WILLIAM COOKSON DIES AT EAST RINGGOLD HOME

William Cookson, 74, widely known East Ringgold stock dealer, died Sunday at 9:30 a. m. at his home after a four month illness. He was a native of Washington Township.

Survivors include his widow, Alice Johnston Cookson; four children, Carl of Canal Winchester, Mrs. Marjorie Smith of Lancaster; Mrs. Mabel Grubb of Circleville Route 4 and Charles Cookson of the home. There are also two grandchildren.

He was a member of the Lutheran Church. The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Ringgold United Brethren Church, the Rev. L. S. Metzler officiating, with burial in Reber Hill Cemetery by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home. The body will be at the Cookson home where friends may call.

WAR TODAY

Greatest Naval Chase In History On After Sinking Of Hood

By Captain H. Craig U. S. Marine Corps, Retired
Somewhere in the fog-veiled, ice-strewn waters of the North Atlantic two fleets of huge ships, British and German, are thundering along at express train speed, the one seeking to precipitate the biggest naval battle since Jutland, the other striving with all its might and guile to avoid the death-grips of such a clash.

The British have the Hood to avenge and they may be trusted to get the last possible knot out of their straining boilers. For the Germans, the whole success of their campaign of hit-and-run naval war is at stake.

The critical period in this naval game of blind man's buff began at dawn this morning and will last until shortly after sunset this evening. During that time the Germans must navigate a course through a comparatively narrow area north of Scotland and west of Norway.

Daylight will favor the British searchers. Apparently the weather in those latitudes is reasonably clear. Land-based airplanes from northern British air fields should be able to join in the chase. The British Navy should have a more than even chance of forcing the battle they desire. But if the Germans are not trapped today, the

SOUTH INDIANA MAY BE SCENE OF ARMY CAMP

WASHINGTON, May 26—The proposed new Fifth Corps Area Army camp is likely to be placed in southern Indiana instead of in southern Ohio, it was reported today.

While the War Department declined to authorize a statement, it was learned that the trend of opinion among army officers charged with the job of locating the camp is toward a site near Columbus, Indiana.

Tests of land and sub-surface conditions are being made on land near Columbus. Another site, in Jennings County, Indiana, was reported under consideration.

Except for a few business men, the majority of sentiment in Columbus and vicinity was said to be against location of the site there for fear that fine farm land would be displaced by a temporary camp.

"The only advice I could give them was to put the price of their land way up the way they did near Chillicothe in the hope of inducing the War Department to go elsewhere," said a member of Congress to whom protests had been made by Columbus citizens.

Establishment of the camp, which would hold probably 35,000 soldiers, is said to be dependent on expansion of the army. Members of Congress, who have investigated the situation, say that there is little doubt but that the camp will be established.

SHARP BATTLE GOES ON

Berlin Reports John Bull's Navy Losses Enormous; 'Blitz' Continues

CAIRO, May 26—Heavily reinforced German parachute troops today broke through British defenses west of Canea on the war-ravaged island of Crete.

An official communique said: "Following arrival of additional air-borne reinforcements, the Germans, under cover of an intensive air bombardment, delivered a strong attack against our troops west of Canea."

"Although they sustained heavy casualties, the enemy penetrated our positions. "New Zealand forces counter-attacked and severe fighting is continuing."

The battle west of Canea, coinciding with fresh hostilities at Candia and Retimo, developed into a struggle for possession of Canea, the capital.

Three Points Attacked

Clouds of German dive-bombers attacked all three points while RAF planes hammered Maleme. A British communique related: "Between Maleme and Canea sharp hand-to-hand fighting is continuing. There were daylong and intensive dive-bombing attacks by the enemy. Heavy losses were inflicted on the enemy, including the continued destruction of their aircraft by our shellfire on the ground."

The communique also admitted that German air-borne troops carried out "successful landings" Saturday, though on a "much reduced scale," in the Candia and Retimo areas.

(The London News Chronicle reported from Cairo that more than 250 German aircraft have been destroyed in the battle of Crete so far.)

European Bulletins

LONDON—Queen Mother Mary, widow of King George V, celebrated her 74th birthday today in Western England.

LONDON—A "critical situation" in French-mandated Syria was reported by neutral quarters in London today. Martial law was said to have been declared in both Beirut and Aleppo along with food riots at Beirut.

LONDON—Destruction of 72 axis warplanes during the last week at a cost of only 29 RAF craft was claimed today by the British radio.

NEW YORK—Serious anti-British outbreaks in Bombay, India, were reported by the German radio today. The broadcast, picked up by NBC, said the demonstrators were attempting to set fire to British buildings. In ensuing encounters with police, it was claimed, 19 Indians were killed, more than 300 wounded and 500 arrested.

PASTOR HONORED

Circleville Lutherans, Sunday, honored Dr. G. J. Hitler's Admiral Sounds Warning Against Convoys

TOKYO, May 26—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander-in-chief of the German Navy, left a warning with the United States today that conveying of war supplies to Britain would mean conflict with the Reich.

In an interview with the Japanese (Domei) news agency, Raeder charged American sources with attempting to create incidents which would justify American intervention in the war. The interview, given in Berlin, apparently was timed to follow the sinking of Britain's battle cruiser Hood.

END OF DISPUTE IN IRAQ NEARS, CAIRO INSISTS

CAIRO, May 26—A speedy British victory on the steaming plains of Iraq was forecast by Cairo authorities today with reports that Premier Rashid Ali and his anti-British henchmen were fleeing or preparing to flee the country.

(Editor's Note: Diplomatic circles in London predicted an "all-most immediate collapse of the Iraqi rebellion" and said that still more ministers in Rashid Ali's government were reported to have fled.)

(Other London circles said they doubted the Iraqi would end their fight, pointing out their recent operations showed strong evidence of substantial German support and direction.)

(British troops meanwhile were reported to have bombed the Iraqi at Ramadi in preparation for a crossing of the Euphrates above the Habbaniyah Airport.)

SOME AREAS DISCLOSE FROST EARLY SUNDAY

Low temperatures Sunday morning brought frost to several localities in the county, farmers reported Monday.

Farmers from Darby, Deer-creek and Harrison Townships were reporting frost damage to corn fields and to potato and tomato plants. Low temperature in Circleville Sunday was 38 degrees.

Official low Monday was 47, with a promise from the weatherman of fair and warmer temperatures late Monday and Tuesday.

tremendous decision to keep the United States at peace or precipitate the country further down the road to war is his alone—and he is not yet ready to propose any further steps that might bring the nation into open hostility.

F. D. Best-Informed

One close friend of the President pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt is probably the best informed man in the world today on the staggering welter of cross-currents that combine to present the complex international picture. Possessed of this knowledge he is still waiting further developments and additional information before casting the fatal die which would head America into war for a second time in 24 years.

This prognostication may confuse those who have heard and read the recent utterances of the Roosevelt cabinet, including Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Knox, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Secretary of Interior Ickes, all seemingly setting the stage for a terrific climax delivered by the President himself.

Dennis U. Pickens, 68, a lifelong resident of Circleville and one of the city's most widely known residents, died suddenly Saturday at 8:45 p. m. at his home, 124 Watt Street. Mr. Pickens had returned to Circleville just a week earlier after passing the winter at his home in Miami, Fla.

He had been suffering from a cold, but otherwise was in apparent good health.

Mr. Pickens had been in business in Circleville for many years, having retired a few years ago when he sold his Palace Restaurant, South Court Street, to Stone's Grill. He had a large acquaintance throughout central and southern Ohio.

Born January 15, 1873, in Wayne Township, he was a son of Robert and Rachel Bowsher Pickens. Surviving are his widow, Rose, a son, Robert, and a daughter, Mrs. Betty Rooney of Columbus, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Cleo Maiden Schilder, and a stepson, Wilbur Maiden, both of Cincinnati; five brothers, Charles and George of Circleville, Grover and Simon of Columbus, Albert of Venice, Cal., and a sister, Mrs. Charles Ault of Columbus.

Mr. Pickens was a member of Circleville Lodge of Elks.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 3 p. m. at the Albaugh Co. Chapel, the Rev. George L. Troutman officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery. Pall bearers will include Dr. D. V. The no-strike rule and the decision of the Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., not to negotiate wage disputes during work stoppages will extend to all the trades engaged in getting the plant ready for production of ammunition by July 1. A carpenters' strike a few weeks ago halted construction work.

The laborers' walkout, which the A. F. of L. laborers' union said was unauthorized, forced 14,000 men into idleness and seriously held up work.

New badges were issued to laborers as they returned to work this morning and army officers said badges would be given only to "desirables." A small number of "agitators," blamed for fomenting last week's strike, will be excluded, it was indicated.

not necessarily share all of their views. Some think that Stimson and Knox have stepped too far out in front of the parade in advocating repeal of the Neutrality Act.

Inversely, however, the forces led by Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont. and Charles A. Lindbergh are due for a strafing in Mr. Roosevelt's most effective fashion, it was predicted.

Obstructionists

Already, the President has labeled Lindbergh and his associates as obstructionists to a united front who are comparable to the "copperheads" who opposed the federal government in the war between the states. Tomorrow night it was anticipated he would tie that label more tightly on them.

The Fireside Talk, which goes on the air at 9:30 tomorrow night will be delivered from the old diplomatic reception room in the lower level of the White House. Grouped around the room as the President speaks will be the diplomatic representatives of the 20 other American republics who combine with the United States to form the Pan American Union.

NEW YORK, May 26—Wendell L. Willkie today urged President Roosevelt to make tomorrow night's scheduled Fireside Chat a message that "will unite America and serve notice to totalitarian rulers that America intends to help stop aggressor powers and totalitarianism."

"Heaven knows, I have criticized the administration," the 1940 Republican presidential candidate told a radio audience. But, he added:

"This is no time to quarrel about trivialities when the whole world is on fire. When I am helping to put out a fire, I am not going to stand around and quarrel with the fire chief, even though previously I disagreed with him."

KING OF GREECE TO MAKE HOME ON ENGLISH SOIL

King George II of Greece, as well as the home of Premier Emmanuel Tsouderos.

The monarch and his cabinet fled from Crete on Friday, one day before the German Luftwaffe unleashed a terrific bombardment of Candia and Retimo that wrought "havoc comparable to Rotterdam" on the three Cretan cities.

In a proclamation issued from Cairo, King George said his temporary place in Crete and the premier's house were the "main objectives" of German parachutists. He announced:

"It became imperative for us to withdraw in order to frustrate their plans."

DUNLOP TIRE CO. OPENS IN ITS NEW LOCATION

The Circleville store of The Dunlop Tire Co., managed by George Grubb, opened Monday at its new location, 106 East Main Street, in a completely remodeled building.

The store, which had been in operation on West Main Street, was forced to move when its building was razed to make way for the new structure being built by Harry Sohn.

AID FOR CANAL ZONE

BALBOA, C. Z., May 26—The United States Army announced today that several flights of the latest type light attack bombers have arrived at Balboa to bolster Panama Canal air defenses. They will be stationed permanently at Canal Zone bases.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Thus saith the Lord, Keep ye judgment, and do justice; for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed.—Isaiah 54:1.

All retailers of cigarettes were given notice Monday that their licenses must be renewed at once. Permits are available at the office of Auditor Forrest Sholt.

Circleville Elks will gather at the lodge home at 8 o'clock Monday evening to view the body of Dennis U. Pickens, a deceased brother, at the Albaugh Co. Chapel.

The ladies of Circle 6, W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church, Mrs. P. Stanley Glick, chairman, will sponsor a silver tea at the home of Mrs. R. R. Bales, Wednesday, May 28 from 2 to 5. Everyone invited.

James E. Brown returned to Pensacola, Fla., Monday after spending the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brown, of East Main Street. Mr. Brown is officer manager of the Freu Construction Corporation of that city.

Mrs. Tunis Lindsey of South Court Street was removed from Berger Hospital, Saturday, to her home. She had been undergoing treatment at the hospital.

Because of the sun through the glass, it is uncomfortably hot in the greenhouses in the afternoon and we suggest that for greater comfort, you come if possible during the forenoon to purchase plants and flowers for Decoration Day and for your flower beds and porch boxes. Brehmer Greenhouses.

Mrs. James C. Reid of 588 East Main Street who has been seriously ill at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, for the last week, is now suffering an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Reid and Miss Marie Wilkin of this city visited her Sunday.

Harley Merriman, who has been a medical patient in Berger Hospital, was removed Sunday to his home, 226 Town Street.

Commissioners, Monday, made their regular monthly visit to the County Home.

ELEPHANT RIDES STOP; SIX CHILDREN INJURED

CLEVELAND, May 26—Elephant rides at the Cleveland Zoo were stopped today after the rattan box in which six children were riding was knocked off the back of Osa, the zoo's riding elephant, as he bolted for her pen and the box struck a doorway.

The children were released after treatment in city hospital.

TWO WOMEN JAILED

Grace Manbeavers and Jessie Pettit, New Holland, were fined $50 and costs each and placed in county jail Saturday by Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges on charges of being intoxicated and disorderly. Justice Hedges said the women were fighting in a New Holland residence and causing a disturbance when they were arrested by sheriff's officers.

nounced by the German high command today.

A communique stated that since May 20, the Luftwaffe has sunk seven British cruisers, eight destroyers, one submarine and five speedboats.

In addition, it was stated, German planes have heavily damaged one British battleship and several cruisers and destroyers.

Berlin authorities stated German troops in Crete are attacking and advancing throughout the island and that the operations are "proceeding according to plan."

Further announcements were expected in the near future, as German quarters said the Luftwaffe was giving the British on the island a "heavy blitzing everywhere" to wear down their resistance and speed capitulation.

Can't Lose Grip

Authoritative quarters added that the conquest of Crete is now "merely a matter of systematic cleaning up" and declared the question of German troops losing their grip on the island "no longer arises."

In addition, they described the naval losses inflicted on the British fleet as the "gravest factor" for the British in the Mediterranean campaign.

These recent naval triumphs, including destruction of the battle cruiser Hood between Greenland and Iceland, renewed anticipation of forthcoming grand-scale German blows in various theatres of war.

'DEAD' MAN GETS BETTER; CORONER GOES BACK HOME

When a dead man comes to life, that's news. Such a story was circulating around police headquarters Monday after an episode in William Hickey's establishment on West Main Street Saturday night.

Before midnight Saturday, Police Chief William McCrady received a call to go to Mr. Hickey's establishment where a man was reported to be lying on the floor.

On arrival, Chief McCrady checked the man's pulse, thought him dead and called Acting Coroner B. T. Hedges and Dr. G. W. Heffner. The face of the man was covered with a towel.

When Mr. Hedges and Dr. Heffner arrived, the "dead" man, very much alive, was amazing a crowd of bystanders by walking around. Dr. Heffner reported that the man, who said his name was Lockhart and that he came from Williamsport, had suffered a heart attack.

The ruins of Jamestown, Va., first permanent English settlement in the United States, will be preserved exactly as they are uncovered, except possibly in occasional instances when complete authenticating data are available.

CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOL UNIT CONDUCTED

Annual Pickaway Township Sunday school convention, composed of the Salem Methodist and the Emmett's Chapel churches, was held Sunday afternoon at the Salem M. E. church at Meade.

Mrs. Ruth Woolever, vice-president, acted as chairman in the absence of Mrs. D. C. Rader, president. The 1941 convention opened with the hymn "Our Best," sung by the congregation, followed by a prayer offered by the Rev. Marks.

Esther Hall and Pearl Green sang "It is Morning in My Heart" and Miss Bernadine Hinton, acting secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Marie and Miss Elizabeth Dumm sang a vocal duet "Sometime, Somewhere."

Mrs. Ruth Woolever appointed the following as a nominating committee for the coming year: Mrs. B. W. Young, chairman; Miss Gladys Rader and Mrs. Anna Rice.

"The Spring," an exercise, was presented by a group of boys and girls from Emmett's Chapel, after which Mrs. Young talked on living and choosing our kind of life. Mac Wolfe played a flute solo, accompanied by Miss Norma Jean Penn.

Subject of the Rev. Fred Mark was "The Country Church and Its Part in the World Today." The Rev. Mr. Mark's subject was supplemented by a poem read by Mrs. Woolever. Bobby Wilson, accompanied by Miss Penn, played a trumpet solo, "Lyra," and Miss Penn played a piano solo "Angels' Harps."

Miss Rosemary Green and Mrs. Ollie Harrah sang a vocal duet, "Ivory Palaces" and the Rev. Thomas Adams spoke on the vastness of religions held by the rural communities.

Following the address by the Rev. Mr. Adams, Mrs. Allie Harrah and Mrs. Elmer Dodd sang a vocal duet, "Face To Face."

During the business part of the program Mrs. Ruth Woolever was chosen as president; Mrs. Austin Wilson, vice-president; Mrs. Edgar Harrah, secretary and Miss Bernadine Hinton, treasurer.

A men's chorus from the Salem church, accompanied by Mrs. Merle McAfee, sang "More Like the Master."

The convention will meet next year at Emmett's Chapel.

DEATH OF AKRON NURSE IS STUDIED BY CORONER

AKRON, May 26—The death of Nina Dale Porteus, 21-year-old student nurse, remained unsolved today as Summit County authorities pressed their investigation for a solution.

Dr. R. E. Amos, county coroner, said there was no trace of poison nor was there evidence of a heart attack. He failed to reveal the reason for her death pending further examination.

Miss Porteus, who was found dead in bed at the nurses' home, was a senior in the hospital nursing school and was to have been graduated next month.

PRESIDENT PUTS NAME ON MAJOR CROP MEASURE

panying his action, the President noted that he had received letters from certain legislative leaders "stating in effect that for the 1941 crop the broad intention is that parity payments should, if necessary, be so curtailed as to avoid a price above parity when added to the soil conservation payments."

"I am therefore confident," he said, "that in the pending appropriation this clear interpretation and intent will be carried out."

The agreement to which the President referred was that if he signed the 85 percent loan bill for cotton, corn wheat, rice and tobacco, congress in return would reduce parity payment appropriations in the pending agricultural supply bill from $450,000,000—as now in the appropriation bill—to the $212,000,000 recommended by the budget bureau.

MRS. JOSEPHINE BRADY, 59, DIES IN COLUMBUS

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. at St. Aloysius Church, Columbus, for Mrs. Josephine Brady, 59, of 47 South Warren Avenue, Columbus, who died Sunday in Mount Carmel Hospital. She was a native of Circleville, but had lived in Columbus for 36 years.

Mrs. Brady was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Stottlemire.

Survivors include her husband, William; four daughters, two sons, and a brother, William, of Circleville.

chance will probably be lost for ever, or at least until the Nazi fleet emerges for another raid.

Not After Fight

Reason today's daylight hours form the critical period in the British-German naval handicap race lies in the navigational facts of the waters where the Hood was sunk and the almost mathematical certainty that the German ships must be hot-footing it for their bases. They have nowhere else to go unless they think they are good enough to remain at sea and fight the whole of the Royal Navy, which seems hardly probable.

Both British and German announcements of the sinking of the Hood put that action at the middle of the 250-mile straits that separate Iceland from Greenland. That would be about latitude 65 north by 25 west longitude. This would mean the Hood's destruction, which apparently took place about mid-afternoon on Saturday, occurred at a point about 900 miles from the coast of Norway and a total of somewhere near 1,500 miles from the harbors of Germany proper.

Traveling at 25 knots an hour, probably a comfortable cruising speed for the 30-knot Bismarck, the Nazi fleet would cover 600 sea miles a day, reaching northern Norwegian waters at about three o'clock this morning. All day today they must run south towards the channel into the North Sea, between Scotland and Norway.

By three o'clock this afternoon, if they are not cornered before that time and forced to fight, the Nazi ships will reach the latitude of Bergen, Norway, almost within a stone's throw of Scapa Flow, great British naval base. If their successful flight continues, somewhere about seven o'clock this evening they will slide behind German mine-fields to safety. But for fifteen hours or more of daylight they must play the fox in the greatest naval hunt the world has ever seen.

A western farmer hit by lightning says he didn't even feel it. Let's have no more of this bosh about not being able to find fitting opponents for Joe Louis.

TWO REQUESTS AFFECT DRAFT ELIGIBLES HERE

Persons In I-B Urged To Have Their Physical Defects Corrected

FARM LABORERS CITED

Deferment Of Men Working In Agricultural Fields Being Advised

Two requests from State Selective Service headquarters, both of which may affect the classification of local registrants, were received Monday by the local draft board.

One asked that local registrants who have been placed in Class B-1 because of minor physical defects be urged to fit themselves for Class I-A. The other asked that the local board give "serious consideration" to registrants working on farms before placing them in Class I-A.

Announcement for the "rehabilitation" of Class I-B registrants came as a result of a statement from Lieut. Col. Howard E. Boucher, chief of the medical division, who suggested that registrants with minor physical defects consult their doctors and dentists. Medical treatment would be at the registrant's own expense, Col. Boucher pointed out.

Dental Care Needed

The local board has over 100 Class I-B men, many of them being given that classification because of defective teeth. With proper dental treatment, many of them could be placed in Class I-A.

Deferment of men engaged in farming to prevent further shortage of farm labor was urged following an announcement from Secretary of Agriculture Wickard that the defense program had drained so heavily from farm workers that the supply of available labor declined 17.8 percent between April 1, 1940 and April 1, 1941. Secretary Wickard pointed out to Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, deputy Selective Service director, that the importance of agriculture in the National Defense program cannot be overestimated.

Farm laborers without dependants have been placed in Class I-A by the local board and those who have carried their cases to the Appeal Court have failed to obtain other classification ratings.

Although the local board has completed its classifications, with the exception of those pending physical examination, the exact number of registrants in each class has not yet been determined. Local draft officials stated they would recheck classifications of those registrants engaged in farming before sending them into service.

Another branch of army service became available for young men in Circleville and Pickaway County, Monday, when Lieut. P. H. Van Patten of Patterson Field, Dayton, was stationed at the local draft board office to interview possible applicants for ground work in the United States Army Air Service at Patterson Field.

MRS. DICKINSON'S SUIT AGAINST JUDGE OPENS

COLUMBUS, May 26—A $750,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Agnes B. Dickinson, an attorney, against Probate Judge C. P. McClelland was set for trial before Judge John R. Kings in Common Pleas court today.

Mrs. Dickinson was recently convicted of embezzling $10,800 from a guardianship estate. She alleges that Judge McClelland was guilty of malicious conduct in demanding an accounting of the estate.

She also has asked a new trial, scheduled to start next Saturday. Meanwhile six Common Pleas court judges who ordered her disbarred have delayed their proceedings pending outcome of the trial.

The estate from which Mrs. Dickinson is charged with embezzling was that held in trust for Mrs. Anne Burgoyne, an incompetent.

Mrs. Dickinson once won statewide attention, when as attorney and plaintiff, she brought legal action to recover $3,000,000 involved in contracts between the state highway department and contractors. She charged collusion in purchase and use of a type of "hot mixed" paving material.

OHIO'S TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL UP

Nine Killed In Single Crash Boosts Number Of Fatalities

By International News Service
A single auto-train crash at Upper Sandusky, which claimed the lives of nine Michigan residents, today boosted Ohio's weekend traffic toll to its highest point in months, with the list of victims passing the score mark.

When his auto struck a bridge five miles north of Bellevue, 74-year-old August E. Urbahn was fatally injured.

Arthur Settlemeir, 25, was fatally injured at Elyria.

Glenn H. Nelson, 43, office manager of the Hoover Co. of North Canton, was killed when his automobile struck a power pole on State Route 21, south of Massillon. He was returning home after a business trip.

Mrs. Carmel Chatan, 65, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in Campbell, O.

Miss Lavine Edwards, 21, of Berlin Center, O., was killed and two companions injured when the automobile in which they were riding hit three parked cars on State Route 534 at Damascus, O.

Marie Hricuk, 17-year-old high school girl, was killed and eight others seriously injured in a head-on crash between two automobiles in Cleveland.

In one of the worst traffic tragedies in Ohio's history, nine lives were snuffed out at Upper Sandusky when the fast Pennsylvania passenger train "Trail Blazer" crashed into a Michigan car at a down-town flasher-light protected crossing.

Wreckage was strewn along the right-of-way for four blocks, and it was nine hours before even the number of victims could be determined. The train, 15 minutes behind schedule, was traveling an estimated 70 miles an hour when it smashed the auto to bits.

The victims, who were returning to their Michigan homes after a visit to friends at Richwood, O., were identified as Bill A. Eli-sech, the driver; his wife, Stella; their three children, Patricia, Anne, 3, William, 2, and Ronald, six weeks; Helen Okraska and her daughter, Virginia, 14, all of Saginaw; and Edmund F. and Sally Jurczak, of Hamtramck.

The Cincinnati area added two more lives to the toll. Mrs. Frances Talbert Rita, 18, of Hamilton, was killed when her auto failed to take a curve and overturned in a ditch, and 65-year-old John P. Leonard was injured fatally when struck by an auto.

Dr. J. Harmon Wilson, 49-year-old Columbus Negro physician, was killed in a head-on crash in U. S. Route 40 east of Brownsville, in Licking County.

Mrs. Mary Tway, 75, of Bloomington, died in a Columbus hospital of injuries received when she was struck by an auto at Washington C. H.

Meigs County recorded its first traffic fatality in 18 months with the death of Pearl Archer, 18, killed when a care overturned after a tire blew out.

Mrs. Mary Halter, 73, was fatally injured when she was struck by an auto as she attempted to cross a Lima street.

revolver, was believed to be the same man responsible for the April 8 attack on a northside housewife.

couple of fine appearing boys from an outside neighboring school, (not Madison) and on inquiry, found they had been having a tough time of it with that bad multiplication table and by our kindly help, we found that nine times seven figures exactly 72 and let it go at that. But our conscience, if any, has told us, we did not do the right thing by those boys, and if they are over here at the next Fresh Air Show, we'll be doing our best to make amends for our bad act. Very well do we remember what a time, the venerable Jerome Peters, our teacher, now 93 years young soon, had drilling the times tables into our class and making them stick. But rivalry was so keen with our dozen in class, that teacher need not do much coaching. And too, it might be of interest to learn that of the 27 boys attending school at Madison five, when this Mr. Peters taught there, but seven are living.

The ball game out at the park Sunday didn't go so good, the local team coming out on the short end by one run, the defeat being administered by the County Seat youngsters. Score, 9 to 8. We are paying Scoot Roof, Charlie Heffner and Si Smith to come in on the job and teach these boys how to play real ball as they once knew and played it.

The Community Club will be in session at the Mrs. Pontius restaurant this evening when matters of importance will be up for a hearing. Chicken dinner eats at seven.

dominated the afternoon's events in almost every event. Handsome Nance took the half-mile run, Marvin White won the shot put, Elmer Neff took the pole vault and Charley Counts captured the broad jump to pace the winners of the most interesting events. The relays were divided, each school winning one event. Holy Rosary won the mile run.

Ashville Grades put the "B" on South Bloomfield and Holy Rosary Grades, the scores of this meet being: Ashville 60 1-3; Bloomfield, 30 1-6; Rosary, 5 1-2. Some of the winners in this meet were Lowell Neece in the 100 yd. dash, 60 yd. dash and 220 yd. dash; Walter Bevins, the pole vault, Dick Mes-sick, the broad jump, Young, the shot put and Gregg, the half mile run. Charles Pettibone, the Ashville Seventh Grader and son of "Bud" Pettibone, former Ashville High athlete, caused great excitement among the spectators when he finished second in the half-mile run. Running with bare feet and new long trousers rolled up to his knees, Charles stole the show as he stepped out in front at the beginning of the run and held the lead to the last 50 yards when he slowed up enough to allow his cousin, Russel Gregg to pass him a few yards from the finish line. Most of the fans present were of the opinion that the youngsters would have won the race with just a little more knowledge about conserving his speed at the right time and sprinting at the right time. It was a swell performance anyhow and brought the fans much enjoyment.

A good number of boys and girls and a fair number of adults saw the meet which was started around 2 p. m. after the big "cafeteria" style dinner which was served at 12 o'clock.

The Student Council staged a farewell party for Seniors and under-graduates and teachers Thursday night in the high school gym. Games comprised the activities of the evening with the exception of the very fine lunch which commanded some valuable attention of the guests.

ANTI-WAR BLOC GAINS STRENGTH, SEN. NYE CLAIMS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 26—American anti-war forces are winning their fight and "the cause of intervention has been halted in its tracks," in the opinion today of Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R) of North Dakota.

"The people have awakened," Sen. Nye told an America First Committee rally, "and are combatting the lies and deceptions of those who would take us to war while chloroforming us into believing that we were going 'just short of war.'"

The United States must stay out of the European war "if democracy is to win," Nye said.

MID-CONTINENT SHIPPING

THE Great Lakes, which produced a lot of small ships rather late in the last war, may soon be in the game again. There are excellent shipyards on the Lakes, which have long produced most of the big vessels used in hauling iron ore down the Lakes and coal on the return trip. Now they are seriously discussing a big expansion for war purposes.

Present proposals involve both the St. Lawrence and Mississippi Rivers. The former can handle ships up to 3,500 tons, going through the present locks between Lakes Erie and Ontario and the St. Lawrence Canals farther down. At the other end of the Great Lakes system, the Chicago Drainage Canal would accommodate the hulls of empty vessels built on the Lakes and floated through without superstructure. These would be taken down the Mississippi and finished and loaded at New Orleans. They would have a capacity of perhaps 8,000 to 10,000 tons.

It looks, offhand, like an excellent plan, which would add life to the Mississippi traffic. Such a development, however, would also add to the pressure for further deepening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, giving a shorter route to Europe for big cargoes.

MILK FOR SOLDIERS

AN exhibit of Columbia University displays the daily rations for soldiers during the six "periods of militarization" from the Revolutionary War to the World War in 1917. It doesn't require an authority on nutrition to note the improvement.

Those fellows at Valley Forge had to cook their own food over little camp fires. The rations they were given to work with consisted of an allotment of uncooked meat, grain and vegetables, plus a quart of spruce beer. That diet, and the diets of 1812 and 1846, were all deficient in vitamins A and C.

Today's camp meals show balance and variety. The beef allowance is greater than it was 24 years ago, and other meats have been introduced. Salad stuffs as well as vegetables and sweets are abundant.

"The only aspect in which Army menus are deficient is calcium," says Prof. Clara M. Taylor, whose class in food nutrition arranged the exhibit. "Our boys should have another glass of milk a day."

That might be within Uncle Sam's power.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

EX-PRESIDENT HERBERT HOOVER, broadcasting his views, some evenings ago, on the subject of American naval conveying of our shipments Britainward, didn't stop at saying that our adoption of the convoy plan would be extremely likely to involve us in war.

Quite a few of our best isolationists in congress confessed that they wish he had stopped right there. They've said that much.

President Roosevelt himself has agreed that our escort warcraft might get into shooting matches with Axis submarines, planes or surface raiding ships, and he's conceded that "shooting is pretty close to war."

All that's obvious to anybody.

But Herbert Hoover's proposition was that our navy (or such of it as may be assigned to convoy duty) must attack German submarines, ships and planes, to be of any use.

Our pro-convoy and outright interventionist congressmen were prompt to jump on that remark as the bunk, and as previously observed, there are even isolationists who think that Herbert weakened their case by over-expressing himself.

The argument's this:

We're engaged in sending supplies to Britain. They're going, at present, in British vessels, but they're our supplies until they're delivered. And the Germans are sinking more or less of them in transit. Authorities differ as to just how much this destruction amounts to. Nevertheless, there's a good bit of it; there's no question as to that.

And they're OUR supplies (regardless of the nationality of the boats they're being transported in) while in process of being sunk.

OURS UNTIL DELIVERED

Suppose, for instance, that we get an order of goods from Britain and find it convenient to send 'em to the consignee in a British bottom. We don't sell 'em to that particular ship. We sell them to the British and they're ours until they're delivered to our customer—just as a grocer still owns his sugar and coffee and breakfast food until his delivery wagon hands 'em over to the housewife who asked for 'em, by phone.

It's true that our sales to Britain are on a credit basis and everybody may be muddling certain that the bill never will be paid. But that's none of our business. If, ultimately, we can't collect a cent, it's our funeral, not theirs.

Well, Axis blockaders are busy sinking this stuff. When they do it, they sink a British ship, too. Maybe that ship-sinking's none of our affair, either, since it isn't our ship. However, the ship's contents are OURS, up to that point.

Let's get back to the case of the grocer aforesaid. Suppose his delivery wagon's overworked, so he borrows or hires several from some other chap. But a gang of hoodlums make a practice of overhauling his supplementary wagons, snatching 'em up and confiscating their cargoes, which consequently never get to his customers. Possibly the grocer cares nothing for the other fellow's wagons that he's borrowed or hired, but he does object to the interference with his own deliveries. Accordingly, he arms his drivers with a shotgun apiece, and the next time one of 'em's jumped by the hoodlum gang, he shoots 'em full of lead slugs.

Can that grocer properly be said to have "attacked" those hoodlums?

Just so with our proposed convoys.

WELL NOT GO HUNTING

It isn't suggested that our navy should go hunting Axis submarines, planes and surface raiders. Oh, yes, our ultra-interventionists urge our all-out participation in the war. The merely pro-convoy boys, though, advocate only armed escorts for protection of our shipments abroad. If Axis subs and things will let our exports alone, our escorts will let THEM alone.

Of course, scarcely anyone believes that the Axis will do it, convoys or no convoys. If not, if convoying starts, presumably there'll be shooting, which, as F. D. R. says, "is pretty close to war."

And yet—

There are observers who maintain that Herr Hitler doesn't want war with the United States—not now. If he did, they think he'd have declared it already. Convoys might force his hand, and coerce him into a declaration. Or maybe they wouldn't.

CIVILIAN MOVEMENTS

WASHINGTON — If Mayor LaGuardia runs short of ideas on how to keep the Office of Civilian Defense going at top speed, he can get some pointers from his chief in the White House.

Keenly interested in enabling every man, woman and child to "play a part," no matter how small, in the defense program, Roosevelt feels that the big flaw so far has been that the average person has not been made to "feel" that he can contribute something.

Discussing this with Defense advisers the other day, the President remarked that one of the best ways to stimulate civilian participation in preparedness was the organization of movements such as "Bundles for Britain."

"Bundles for Britain was an excellent idea," he said, "because it made people realize that in helping the British they were also making a contribution to our own defense. But it is only a start. Other movements of a similar nature should be encouraged. Why not Binoculars for Britain, also?"

To illustrate his point, the President related how in the World War, when he was Assistant Secretary of Navy, it was announced that the Navy needed more binoculars than American factories were producing. In a few weeks thousands of binoculars poured in from patriotic donors all over the country.

"Some weren't suitable to our needs, but a great many were," said the President. "However, it wasn't the material value of the gifts that counted so much as the spirit behind them. That's what impressed me more than anything—the spontaneous desire of civilians everywhere to help when they thought they could be of service."

NEW "DOLLY GANN" WAR

It has been a long, long time since Dolly Gann and Alice Roosevelt Longworth staged their great social war over who should come into dinner first. But the seeds planted by that war are sprouting even today.

Latest to raise the precedence issue was Mrs. Stanley Hornbeck, wife of the Political Adviser of the State Department. She was attending a dinner given by the former French military attache, Colonel Emmanuel Lombard, and his attractive wife, who had seated Mrs. Hornbeck at the left of the host. At the host's right and in the No. 1 place of honor sat Mrs. Wallace Murray, whose husband is Chief of the State Department's Near Eastern Division.

To the average citizen of Kalamazoo or Kankakee there is no great difference between the official ranks of the State Department's Adviser on Political Relations and its Chief of the Division of Near Eastern Affairs. Geographically, of course, there is a big difference. Dr. Hornbeck is a specialist on China and the Far East, while Wallace Murray is a specialist on Turkey, Egypt and the Near East.

A lot of people don't bother about these technicalities, but to the practised social eye, Dr. Hornbeck, as Political Adviser, (Continued on Page Eight)

Know Your Heredity

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● I told Saturday of a patient with a peculiar blood disease, hemophilia. These patients are called "bleeders" because the blood does not coagulate and bleeding continues from slight cuts and abrasions for an indefinite and dangerous period.

I happen to be partially involved in attempting to trace the family history of the patient mentioned above. It is astonishing how difficult cult such a task is, and how little people know about their hereditary diseases. We sent out hundreds of letters to close relatives. We interviewed an old grandmother, eighty-nine years old, who would answer questions for a while, and then turn stubborn.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

People are inclined to believe that a knowledge of their hereditary diseases has no practical value. Some ancestor bequeaths them this condition, and there is nothing to do about it. Recently, however, I was made acquainted with a peculiar case in which the knowledge of an hereditary condition may have meant the difference between imprisonment and even possibly death as a military punishment.

Thomsen's Disease

The condition in question is known as Thomsen's Disease. The man who first described it was himself a victim of the condition. It is a peculiar change in the muscles and consists in difficulty in initiating or stopping voluntary motion. You start to shake hands with the patient with this condition and he cannot raise his hand quickly enough to meet you; but when he finally clasps the hand, he continues to hold it indefinitely both to his and to your embarrassment.

The individual about whom I heard was drafted in the army and perhaps on account of the nervous excitement, the condition began to affect him badly while drilling. The order would be given to march forward and he would not start until the rest of his company was ten or fifteen paces ahead. Then he would come on rapidly, catch up with the company, but when the order came to halt, he would march on ten or twenty paces forward. He was considered insubordinate by the military authorities. He had been placed in the guard house when a medical officer recognized the condition (it is very rare) and saved him from an unjust punishment.

Concealed Defect

This case is curiously reminiscent of Thomsen's Disease, whose son had enlisted in the army and was about to be punished for malingering by the military authorities because he had not, as the officers thought, obeyed an order promptly. The father had concealed his defect by never making any sudden move and by concentrating for some moments before he made any motion.

He came forward and convinced the military authorities that his son was suffering from a condition which he could not prevent, and not from deliberate insubordination.

I feel that a thorough knowledge of our family histories may often be very comforting to us, as well as practically helpful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. N. — "What is the opinion of the medical profession of bottled mineral waters?"

Answer: There are many kinds of bottled mineral waters. The ones which contain cathartic salts act as a cathartic, taken daily under any conditions. The bottled mineral waters are often blended more skillfully than usual and are more beneficial for mild forms of constipation, gall bladder disease and indigestion, taken a glass full before breakfast in the morning. The alkaline bottled waters are beneficial for arthritis and acid indigestion.

explained. "Since it opens out of the main room the canvas doesn't interfere."

Henry ducked under the table— an easy maneuver because of the table's unusual height, and found himself with Laurence in a small adjoining room. It seemed to have no other entrance. There was not even a window. Only furniture was a large desk in the middle of the floor, with an elaborate built-in switchboard on its sloping top—and of course the chair that went with the desk.

"This used to be a storeroom," Laurence explained. "We cut a hole in the bottom of the door and installed an electric fan for ventilation. This is where the train dispatcher works."

"Why shut him off in here?" Laurence grinned. "Half the fun of model railroading is in operating the trains as they would be done by a full-scale railroad. A regular train dispatcher doesn't see his trains. Neither does ours. The lights on this control board tell him where the trains are, and the various club members in the main room send him orders by telephone. The dispatcher operates all the switches and locomotives according to telephoned orders and the operating schedule that has been set up for the night. He's got to be on his toes, because he's responsible in case of accident."

"And John Ives is going to be dispatcher tonight?" He doesn't seem to fit into my idea of a model railroader."

Laurence frowned. "He doesn't. He and Stanley King are poison to each other."

"Then why does he come here?" "I think he joined the club to keep an eye on the banker."

Henry felt a chill creeping up his spine. He thought of the revolver. He wasn't exactly a coward, but suppose Ives were bent on murder?

"What's Ives' business?" he asked hesitantly.

"I've heard he used to be a banker, too."

"Maybe they had some business trouble . . ."

Henry Potter, curious to see what grown men found so fascinating in this hobby, took up a position beside Laurence.

The young man pointed to a clock in front of him. "It's speeded up to scale time. Here we go!"

The center lights in the big room faded out. The painted sky glowed in a kind of twilight. Signal lights along the railway began to burn red and green and amber. Buildings lighted up. Henry heard a low rumble of tiny wheels. Out of a tunnel left of him rolled a long freight, like a gaudy snake. From the right approached a fast passenger train.

"The freight will take the siding," Laurence explained.

Henry gasped. "But the freight isn't taking the siding! Look!"

Laurence yelled into the telephone. Too late. The locomotives crashed, with a crumpling of cowcatchers and cracking of headlights. Cars jumped the track.

"My Lord!" cried Stanley King, leaping from his stool and running toward the dispatcher's room. "What's Ives up to?" He ducked under the table and out of sight through the hidden door.

The banker was a long while in returning, and when he did his face was pasty white. "Ives is dead! Shot through the back of the head!"

MID-CONTINENT SHIPPING

THE Great Lakes, which produced a lot of small ships rather late in the last war, may soon be in the game again. There are excellent shipyards on the Lakes, which have long produced most of the big vessels used in hauling iron ore down the Lakes and coal on the return trip. Now they are seriously discussing a big expansion for war purposes.

Present proposals involve both the St. Lawrence and Mississippi Rivers. The former can handle ships up to 3,500 tons, going through the present locks between Lakes Erie and Ontario and the St. Lawrence Canals farther down. At the other end of the Great Lakes system, the Chicago Drainage Canal would accommodate the hulls of empty vessels built on the Lakes and floated through without superstructure. These would be taken down the Mississippi and finished and loaded at New Orleans. They would have a capacity of perhaps 8,000 to 10,000 tons.

It looks, offhand, like an excellent plan, which would add life to the Mississippi traffic. Such a development, however, would also add to the pressure for further deepening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, giving a shorter route to Europe for big cargoes.

MILK FOR SOLDIERS

AN exhibit of Columbia University displays the daily rations for soldiers during the six "periods of militarization" from the Revolutionary War to the World War in 1917. It doesn't require an authority on nutrition to note the improvement.

Those fellows at Valley Forge had to cook their own food over little camp fires. The rations they were given to work with consisted of an allotment of uncooked meat, grain and vegetables, plus a quart of spruce beer. That diet, and the diets of 1812 and 1846, were all deficient in vitamins A and C.

Today's camp meals show balance and variety. The beef allowance is greater than it was 24 years ago, and other meats have been introduced. Salad stuffs as well as vegetables and sweets are abundant.

"The only aspect in which Army menus are deficient is calcium," says Prof. Clara M. Taylor, whose class in food nutrition arranged the exhibit. "Our boys should have another glass of milk a day."

That might be within Uncle Sam's power.

DEATH AT THE SWITCH

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Henry Potter, to escape his wife's nagging, starts to walk to the village in the rain for an evening of checkers. His umbrella collapses and he seeks shelter at Wildwood lodge, in whose big basement room a model railroad club is building its elaborate miniature train system. He meets the members of the club, clumsy but amiable Hans Svenson, electrical wizard; fat little Professor Bisbee, whose pudgy hands are remarkably skillful; big, well-dressed Stanley King, banker; tall, blond Marcia, King's friend, who makes tea for the railroad scenery; Laurence Harkness, amateur artist; beautiful, golden-haired Susan Baker, modeler of miniature people; Louis Spinelli, dark, perfumed foreigner, and John Ives, sombre, mysterious—in whose coat pocket Henry sees a revolver.

CHAPTER THREE

APPARENTLY no one else saw the revolver in John Ives' pocket, or if they did it wasn't considered noteworthy.

"How about having coffee before you run the trains?" Marcia suggested. "I brought three quarts in a thermos jug. It will keep hot, but it always tastes better fresh."

"Good idea," agreed Spinelli. "I'd like to see Susan pouring coffee. Domestic, you know."

Marcia sniffed. "That's a laugh!" Professor Bisbee came to Susan's defense. He put an arm around her shoulders. "I wouldn't be surprised to see Susan pouring coffee regularly one of these days. Good old American custom, my dear. Won't be hard to catch a nice American boy to pour for."

Henry noticed the accent on American and wondered if the professor, too, disliked Spinelli.

Hans lifted the thermos jug to a place on the table that was not covered with railroad tracks. Marcia produced coffee cups.

"I'm sorry my wife couldn't come with the usual refreshments," said the professor. "It was too stormy for her. I'm sure you'll all forgive her."

"I will, Professor," said Susan coquettishly. "because now I'll have a better chance to get acquainted with you."

"There she goes again!" sniffed Stanley King. "That's what a college education does for you. Oh for the life of a professor!"

"I thought," said John Ives in a cold voice, "that this was a model railroad club." He was staring in dark disapproval at the professor's arm, still around Susan's shoulder. The professor withdrew it guiltily.

"Your usual killjoy self," sneered King. "What a change since the old days! I can remember you when—"

John Ives held up a hand. His dark eyes pierced the other's. "We both have pasta that should be forgotten—and forgiven."

The banker colored. "That's a matter of opinion."

"A matter of fact!"

"I don't think I'll drink any coffee," Laurence Harkness informed them quietly. "If you don't mind—I have a bit of sketching to finish."

"I'd like to watch you," Henry told him quickly.

"There!" exclaimed Susan, reproaching the somber Ives. "See what you've done—made two perfectly nice men disgusted with us. Why do we have to quarrel? Come on, let Marcia pour the coffee. After all, she brought it."

But Laurence and Henry already were moving to the far side of the room. "Got to finish my sketch while I'm in the mood," Laurence mumbled.

"I don't like that fellow Ives," Henry whispered. "What's the matter with him?"

"We can't talk here. In a louder voice, intended for the other to overhear, the young man suggested, "Maybe you'd like to see our control room, Mr. Potter. You've only seen half our layout."

He nudged Henry and Henry said uncertainly, "Oh, s-sure. I thought this was all."

He could see no other door except the entrance through which he had come, but Laurence approached another part of the wall, ducked under the table and opened a door there. "The upper half of the door is behind the canvas," he explained. "Since it opens out of the main room the canvas doesn't interfere."

Henry ducked under the table—an easy maneuver because of the table's unusual height, and found himself with Laurence in a small adjoining room. It seemed to have no other entrance. There was not even a window. Only furniture was a large desk in the middle of the floor, with an elaborate built-in switchboard on its sloping top—and of course the chair that went with the desk.

"This used to be a storeroom," Laurence explained. "We cut a hole in the bottom of the door and installed an electric fan for ventilation. This is where the train dispatcher works."

"Why shut him off in here?"

Laurence grinned. "Half the fun of model railroading is in operating the trains as they would be done by a full-scale railroad. A regular train dispatcher doesn't see his trains. Neither does ours. The lights on this control board tell him where the trains are, and the various club members in the main room send him orders by telephone. The dispatcher operates all the switches and locomotives according to telephoned orders and the operating schedule that has been set up for the night. He's got to be on his toes, because he's responsible in case of accident."

"And John Ives is going to be dispatcher tonight? He doesn't seem to fit into my idea of a model railroader."

Laurence frowned. "He doesn't. He and Stanley King are poison to each other."

"Then why does he come here?"

"I think he joined the club to keep an eye on the banker."

Henry felt a chill creeping up his spine. He thought of the revolver. He wasn't exactly a coward, but suppose Ives were bent on murder?

"What's Ives' business?" he asked hesitantly.

"I've heard he used to be a banker, too."

"Maybe they had some business trouble . . ."

Jewelry, Wedding Gowns of 1941's June Brides

JUNE brides of 1941 will not have to admit a single point of smartness in their bridal gowns to their sister brides of other years. One of the smartest gowns for the June wedding is shown at right. Of sheerest wool crepe in pale pink, the gown's line accentuates the new moulded hip with the sheer wool falling in soft graceful folds to make the train. The demure high neckline is edged in pleated tulle, and the delicately tinted tulle veil and plumes match the pale pink of the gown. The bride's engagement ring is a single pearl, and the wedding ring is a double band of diamonds. The bride at left wears a diamond ensemble. There are graduated baguettes in a necklace, clips in a delicate design of baguettes and round diamonds worn upright in the headdress to give the effect of a tiara. One of the bracelets is work in a sunburst pattern and the other in simple bars of baguettes. The engagement ring is a square art diamond, the wedding ring a classic band of baguettes.

Four Alumni Societies Gather, Elect Officers

One hundred and sixty members and guests of the Williamsport Alumni Association were entertained at the annual Alumni Banquet in Sulphur Springs Pavilion Saturday. The occasion marked the reception of the 1941 graduates as members of the organization, the fifteenth class to be graduated from the high school.

Dinner was served at 7:30 p. m. at tables centered with roses, iris and white candles, and the class colors of blue and white. Tiny figures of graduates were the lovely favors at each cover. Billy Johnson was elected president of the association, his staff including: Galen Carter, first vice president; Harold Schein, second vice president; Mrs. Kenneth D. List, secretary-treasurer.

William D. Radcliff, out-going president, presented Orville C. Manly of Columbus, who served as toastmaster.

Wendell Boyer presented the 14 members of the graduating class, who were welcomed by the toastmaster. Harold Schein, class president, responded.

Mrs. Mary Worley of the class of 1891 and W. D. Heiskell of the class of 1901 responded to toasts. An informal talk by Walter Collins of the Ohio department of education concluded the planned entertainment.

An evening of dancing to the music of Hugh Jennings and his Chillicothe orchestra concluded the delightful social affair.

Miss Helen M. Kern was selected to head the 1941 staff of officers of the Jackson Township Alumni Association when 69 members and guests of the group gathered in the Hurricane room of the New American Hotel Saturday for the annual banquet.

Mrs. Paul Thompson is the new vice president while Miss Mary Belle Goodman will serve as secretary-treasurer.

The 14 members of the 1941 graduating class were presented by Pielgord Hansen, school superintendent, and received as members of the organization.

Roses centered the table where the graduates were served, peonies being used on the other tables and in baskets around the room.

Informal visiting and dancing entertained the guests after the dinner hour.

Mrs. Gladden Troutman, East Union Street, out-going president, was general chairman for the affair.

Eighty members and guests of the Washington Township Alumni Association gathered at the Wardell party home Saturday for the annual banquet. New officers were elected, the slate headed by Ralph DeLong including Clyde Leist, vice president; Mrs. Amos Valentine, secretary and Arthur Marshall, treasurer.

MCCARTHY WITH ARMY

The Charlie McCarthy program has scheduled its second broadcast to originate at a service training station. The broadcast of Sunday, June 15, will be from March Field, U. S. Army Air Corps field, near Riverside, Calif. At March Field, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy run through the show as many times as necessary after the broadcast to enable all officers and enlisted men to attend. Few of the Army and Naval stations have auditoriums large enough to accommodate the entire personnel at one time. At the U. S. Naval Training Station at San Diego recently, the company put on two shows to accommodate a total audience of 8,000. McCarthy should feel at home at March Field. Several months ago he was made a master sergeant in the Army Air Corps, offering the suggestion at the time that more men would join the air force if the Army would put a hostess on every bomber.

GAY COMEDY

"The Butter and Egg Man," tremendously successful play by George Kaufman, will be adapted for radio by Charles Martin and heard on "Great Moments From Great Plays" Friday, at 8 p. m. The story is about a yokel from the sticks who comes to the big city and invests his money in a play sponsored by two shoeing artists who intend to milk the bankroll. However, he turns the tables and milks them instead. . . but good. Martin is now trying to line up as much of the original Broadway cast as possible. Back-ground music will be scored by Ray Block who also conducts the 21-piece orchestra.

"TREASURE CHEST" STAYS

Although the "Pot o' Gold" program leaves the air after the broadcast of June 5, Horace Heidt and his orchestra will continue to be heard on the "Treasure Chest" program each Tuesday at 7:30 p. m.

RADIO BRIEFS

The new flute player in Phil Spitalny's orchestra is Lorna Wren. She'll be heard with the orchestra starting Sunday.

Deal for the Bob Hope summer substitute has been closed. New show will be a serial anent the adventures of a female Andy Hardy. It will be on for 13 weeks starting June 24.

Once again Eddie Cantor has changed his mind. He was practically definite about returning to the west coast but has now decided against it and will continue his Wednesday night "Time to Smile" from New York. Still no report about a summer sub.

Benny Goodman's orchestra has been signed for a seven-week radio commercial and will be heard starting July 17, with the programs originating in Chicago.

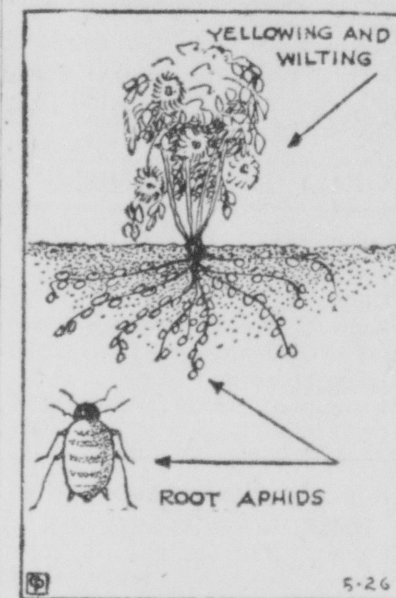

about the plant. Some gardeners find it effective to make a circular depression around the crown of the plant and pour a soapy solution of nicotine sulphate into it.

Nearly all flower seeds should be sown in the garden this month. To speed up germination by keeping the seeds from drying out, cover the newly seeded areas with paper or burlap until the seeds sprout.

Flower plants which have grown tall and spindly before being set out should be pinched back to two or three sets of leaves, to encourage branching.

Today's Garden-Graph

All gardeners at this time of the year are on the watch for aphids—plant lice—which cluster on the new, tender shoots of growing plants. There is still another member of this family, an underground enemy, which cannot be killed as easily as those working above the ground.

An Underground Enemy

These underground aphids are especially fond of aster roots. They insert their beaks into the tender roots and suck the plant's life juices. The trouble, as illustrated in the Garden-Graph, is first indicated above ground by retarded growth of the plant, with the foliage taking on a yellowish, or sometimes a reddish tinge, as well as wilting.

To control these underground enemies, mix wool ashes with the soil at planting time. Another method of repelling them is to mix tobacco dust with the soil, or place a mulch of tobacco stems

For Monday, May 26

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is rather complicated, there being auguries of favors, promotion, preferment, with possible public approval, such meaning success and progress in some group, community or humanitarian interest. Yet this may be negated or frustrated by wayward, tempestuous, rash and impulsive acts.

Those whose birthday it is should be justified in anticipating a year of promotion, favors, tokens of appreciation from those in high places, with much progress in works of public service or community welfare. But shun strife, tumult, and reckless indulgences.

A child born on this day may be extremely energetic and enterprising, determined at all hazards to have its own way. Such intemperance and immaturity and willfulness may prove its undoing, unless given early discipline.

Harold Hines of near Ashville is the new president of the Walnut Township High School Alumni Association. He was elected at the annual banquet held Saturday in the school auditorium where 110 members and guests gathered for the occasion. He succeeds Joseph Peters. Once again Eddie Cantor has changed his mind. He was practically definite about returning to the west coast but has now decided against it and will continue his Wednesday night "Time to Smile" from New York. Still no report about a summer sub.

Benny Goodman's orchestra has been signed for a seven-week radio commercial and will be heard starting July 17, with the programs originating in Chicago.

Flower plants which have grown tall and spindly before being set out should be pinched back to two or three sets of leaves, to encourage branching.

Today's Garden-Graph

All gardeners at this time of the year are on the watch for aphids—plant lice—which cluster on the new, tender shoots of growing plants. There is still another member of this family, an underground enemy, which cannot be killed as easily as those working above the ground.

An Underground Enemy

These underground aphids are especially fond of aster roots. They insert their beaks into the tender roots and suck the plant's life juices. The trouble, as illustrated in the Garden-Graph, is first indicated above ground by retarded growth of the plant, with the foliage taking on a yellowish, or sometimes a reddish tinge, as well as wilting.

To control these underground enemies, mix wool ashes with the soil at planting time. Another method of repelling them is to mix tobacco dust with the soil, or place a mulch of tobacco stems about the plant. Some gardeners find it effective to make a circular depression around the crown of the plant and pour a soapy solution of nicotine sulphate into it.

Nearly all flower seeds should be sown in the garden this month. To speed up germination by keeping the seeds from drying out, cover the newly seeded areas with paper or burlap until the seeds sprout.

Flower plants which have grown tall and spindly before being set out should be pinched back to two or three sets of leaves, to encourage branching.

OHIO A. A. CLUBS SHOW POWER IN DOUBLEHEADED S

COLUMBUS, May 26—It's far too early in the season to count the Ohio teams of the American Association out of the pennant chase.

Toledo and Columbus, the latter the pre-season favorite, both racked up twin victories yesterday to remain deadlocked for fourth place in the race, and only four games off the pace. And meanwhile the current hot-shots, Kansas City and Minneapolis, battled to a standstill to allow the Ohioans to pick up a game.

Columbus twice walloped Louisville, also a strong contender for loop honors, 10 to 2 and 12 to 8, with Red Bird bats exploding to the tune of 31 hits. The Colonels managed to rack up 19 bingles in near-track meet.

Toledo also had a big day of it, swamping Indianapolis, 13 to 3, in the first tilt, and keeling out a 6 to 5 win in the nightcap.

Kansas City took the first game from Minneapolis, 11 to 7, but dropped the second, 6 to 3. Luckless Milwaukee, the only team definitely counted out of the race at this stage, ran its string of consecutive losses to eight by losing a pair to St. Paul 7 to 6 and 2 to 0.

CONN MUST WIN BY BIG MARGIN TO GET LOUIS GO

PITTSBURGH, May 26 — Tonight's the night young Billy Conn must shine—and brightly—or lose his chance to meet Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in New York come June 18.

That's the decision of Promoter Mike Jacobs, who admittedly would rather rematch the surprising Buddy Baer with the Brown Bomber than carry out present plans which call for a Louis-Conn fight at the Polo Grounds.

Tonight, 20,000 boxing fans—and the champ, Joe Louis—will sit around the ring in Forbes Field with severely critical eyes to determine whether the light heavyweight title holder has got the stuff of which heavyweight champs are made.

Conn presumably should not have too much trouble against Buddy Knox in their 15-round tilt for, strictly as a "maneuvering" boxer Conn has few, if any, equals in the ring today. Knox, on the other hand, carries the unenviable title of a distinguished third rater. Conn is out to do something about that "distinguished" tag tonight.

In fact, if all goes well as Billy expects, he will probably announce his abdication from the light heavyweight throne sometime during this week.

HERO AND GOAT

HEROES — Bobby Feller who struck out 13 batters as Cleveland beat St. Louis, 6 to 0; Robert (Lefty) Grove, who chalked up his 29th major league triumph by beating New York, 10 to 3; Pete Reiser, Brooklyn, who homered with the bases loaded, to spark the Dodgers' victory rally over Philadelphia.

GOAT—Hal Newhouser, Detroit pitcher, who blew a two-run lead and saw Chicago score seven runs in the seventh inning to swamp the Tigers, 7 to 3.

Cost of painting the Churchill Downs race track stands is estimated at $55,000.

Cleveland, Xenia Teams Star In Ohio Tourney

By Larry Newman

COLUMBUS, May 26—New names were engraved today in the Ohio high school athletic hall of fame as the scholastic sports parade ended for another year.

Placed alongside the mighty Massillon high school Tiger football team and the equally great basketball champions from Martins Ferry and Glenford were the spring sports champions crowned at the end of the annual sports carnival at Ohio Stadium over the week end.

For the first time in the 34-year history of the scholastic track and field meet, two teams tied for the title so Cleveland East Tech and Cleveland Heights must share the place set aside for Ohio's speedsters of the cinder paths. East Tech, two-time winner, was forced to be satisfied with a 22-point tie for the title, when the Heights' mile relay team came up with the only new record of the meet—a thrilling 3:25.2 performance in the final event—to win the relay title and the six points necessary to knot the championship fight.

A plucky band of orphans from the Xenia O.S.S.O. Home spread-eagled the field in the Class B ranks to score 27 3/5 points to win their second consecutive title. Clyde was next with 14 tallies. The win climaxed a great year for the Home, the Xenia athletes having previously gone undefeated in ten football games and later advanced to the semi-finals of the state basketball tournament.

The state baseball crown went to Cincinnati Withrow's hard-hitting nine in Class "A" while Beaver Creek, also representing the southwestern Ohio district, won in Class "B."

Withrow On Top

Cincinnati Withrow defeated Cleveland Shaw, 7-6 in the finals to take the baseball crown to the Queen City for the sixth time since 1930. Withrow also won the title in 1934. Beaver Creek overwhelmed New Riegel, of Seneca County, in the finals, 12-1 to give the southwestern district a clean sweep in the baseball ranks.

The place allotted to the state golf champions went to Upper Arlington and the Individual title slot to Pete Sohl, the ace of the new state champions, who shot a fine 151, a new record for the 36-hole medal play. Upper Arlington shot an aggregate 658, to edge the defending champions from Toledo DeWitt by two strokes.

Another pair of fine Cincinnati tennis stars—Norm Appel and Charles Thomas, of Cincinnati Hughes, took over the tennis doubles niche while Joe Pickering, of Youngstown Hayen, annexed the singles spot relinquished by Marshall Chambers, of Cincinnati Walnut Hills, two-time winner who was not eligible to compete this year. Pickering defeated Charles Sampson, of Waverly, in the finals while Appel and Thomas won the doubles crown by overcoming Bob Atsaro and Dick Barbaris, of Akron Garfield.

RUNYAN UPSETS GOLFING STARS, TRIES FOR OPEN

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, May 26 — The Goodall Round Robin golf tournament is looked on by some as an indication of what is likely to happen in the National Open, but it didn't work out that way this time. Paul Runyan today held the title of 1941 Goodall champion and this was scarcely compatible with the broad general situation in the Open coming up at Fort Worth, Tex., June 5-7. A better, sturdier, more mechanical perfect golfer is expected to take the big prize.

Still, here is Runyan, twice a National Professional champion and now the Goodall titleholder hopeful of getting a place in the Open, the only catch being that he was to qualify today, if possible. He is not even an automatic qualifier, and had to spend some of the $1,000 check he received in the Goodall tournament yesterday for carfare from his home club in Ridgewood, N. J., where he will play his sectional qualifying rounds for the Open. His score was a plus 26. Sarazen and Ghezzi tied for second with plus 16s.

HERO AND GOAT

HEROES — Bobby Feller who struck out 13 batters as Cleveland beat St. Louis, 6 to 0; Robert (Lefty) Grove, who chalked up his 29th major league triumph by beating New York, 10 to 3; Pete Reiser, Brooklyn, who homered with the bases loaded, to spark the Dodgers' victory rally over Philadelphia.

GOAT—Hal Newhouser, Detroit pitcher, who blew a two-run lead and saw Chicago score seven runs in the seventh inning to swamp the Tigers, 7 to 3.

FELLER'S FEAT HELPS INDIANS; REDLEGS EDGED

Rapid Robert Fans 13 Of Brownies To Win 6-0; Detroit Booked

CLEVELAND, May 26—With Bob Feller in the role of head Yogi, the Cleveland Indians waved goodbye to an old hoodoo today and prepared for a two-game series with the Detroit Tigers before going on a short road trip.

Feller mixed a witches' broth yesterday of 13 strikeouts to disperse the St. Louis Browns, who have been haunting and beating the Tribesmen for a couple of seasons. The young fireballer gave the Browns goose eggs until the fifth when Don Heffner singled, then he let up and allowed six more, but he was never in trouble as the Indians clouted a 6-0 victory to sweep the three-game series with the Mound City club.

Three times, once with the bases loaded and none out, Bob set the side down on strikes. It was the Indians' fifth straight win and Feller's ninth, against two defeats. The 13 batters that Bob whiffed gave him his best strikeout record of the season. His previous 1941 mark was 12.

Bob wasn't the only distinguished tribe performer who made 20,888 fans happy. Jeff Heath cracked the first home run ever hit into the upper stands of the Cleveland Stadium since it was opened in 1932. And he also smashed a triple and a single to drive in two of the Indians' runs.

Johnny Allen, a former Tribesman, started on the mound for the Browns, but gave way for a pinch hitter after five runs had been scored.

Al Smith was Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's choice for a shot at six straight as Detroit Pilot Del Baker selected Buck Newsum to stop the Indians.

CINCINNATI, May 26 — The 1941 edition of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds, 10½ games off the pace and only 4½ out of the basement, return to their home ballpark tonight, just a little dubious of the reception awaiting them.

They closed their road swing by dropping a 3 to 2 decision yesterday to the Chicago Cubs before 18,663 Windy City fans. Although Derringer allowed only six hits in hurling his usual sterling brand of ball, he was charged with his fifth loss of the season.

The Reds banged out nine safeties, including Ernie Lombardi's fourth circuit swat of the season, but most of the bingles were wasted. Lou Novickoff, who was anything but a dud in the Cincinnati series, homered for the Cubs.

The game was an even-Stephen, 2 to 2 affair until, with one out in the last of the ninth, Charlie George singled, driving home Billy Nicholson, who doubled, with the Cubs' winning tally.

Bucky Walters will try for his fifth triumph of the season tonight, facing Nick Strincevich of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

OHIO A. A. CLUBS SHOW POWER IN DOUBLEHEADED R S

COLUMBUS, May 26—It's far too early in the season to count the Ohio teams of the American Association out of the pennant chase.

Toledo and Columbus, the latter the pre-season favorite, both racked up twin victories yesterday to remain deadlocked for fourth place in the race, and only four games off the pace. And meanwhile the current hot-shots, Kansas City and Minneapolis, battled to a standstill to allow the Ohioans to pick up a game.

Columbus twice walloped Louisville, also a strong contender for loop honors, 10 to 2 and 12 to 8, with Red Bird bats exploding to the tune of 31 hits. The Colonels managed to rack up 19 bingles in near-track meet.

Toledo also had a big day of it, swapping Indianapolis, 13 to 3, in the first tilt, and eking out a 6 to 5 win in the nightcap.

Kansas City took the first game from Minneapolis, 11 to 7, but dropped the second, 6 to 3. Luckless Milwaukee, the only team definitely counted out of the race at this stage, ran its string of consecutive losses to eight by losing a pair to St. Paul 7 to 6 and 2 to 0.

CONN MUST WIN BY BIG MARGIN TO GET LOUIS GO

PITTSBURGH, May 26—Tonight's the night young Billy Conn must shine—and brightly—or lose his chance to meet Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in New York come June 18.

That's the decision of Promoter Mike Jacobs, who admittedly would rather rematch the surprising Buddy Baer with the Brown Bomber than carry out present plans which call for a Louis-Conn fight at the Polo Grounds.

Tonight, 20,000 boxing fans—and the champ, Joe Louis—will sit around the ring in Forbes Field with severely critical eyes to determine whether the light heavyweight title holder has got the stuff of which heavyweight champs are made.

Conn presumably should not have too much trouble against Buddy Knox in their 15-round tiff for, strictly as a "maneuvering" boxer Conn has few, if any, equals in the ring today. Knox, on the other hand, carries the unenviable title of a distinguished third rater. Conn is out to do something about that "distinguished" tag tonight.

In fact, if all goes well as Billy expects, he will probably announce his abdication from the light heavyweight throne sometime during this week.

PEONIES

Cleveland, Xenia Teams Star In Ohio Tourney

By Larry Newman

COLUMBUS, May 26—New names were engraved today in the Ohio high school athletic hall of fame as the scholastic sports parade ended for another year.

Placed alongside the mighty Massillon high school Tiger football team and the equally great basketball champions from Martins Ferry and Glenford were the spring sports champions crowned at the end of the annual sports carnival at Ohio Stadium over the week end.

For the first time in the 34-year history of the scholastic track and field meet, two teams tied for the title so Cleveland East Tech and Cleveland Heights must share the place set aside for Ohio's speedsters of the cinder paths. East Tech, two-time winner, was forced to be satisfied with a 22-point tie for the title, when the Heights' mile relay team came up with the only new record of the meet—a thrilling 3:25.2 performance in the final event—to win the relay title and the six points necessary to knot the championship fight.

A plucky band of orphans from the Xenia O.S.S.O. Home spread-eagled the field in the Class B ranks to score 27 3/5 points to win their second consecutive title. Clyde was next with 14 tallies. The win climaxed a great year for the Home, the Xenia athletes having previously gone undefeated in ten football games and later advanced to the semi-finals of the state basketball tournament.

The state baseball crowns went to Cincinnati Withrow's hard-hitting nine in Class "A" while Beaver Creek, also representing the southwestern Ohio district, won in Class "B."

Withrow On Top

Cincinnati Withrow defeated Cleveland Shaw, 7-6 in the finals to take the baseball crown to the Queen City for the sixth time since 1930. Withrow also won the title in 1934. Beaver Creek overwhelmed New Riegel, of Seneca County, in the finals, 12-1 to give the southwestern district a clean sweep in the baseball ranks.

The place allotted to the state golf champions went to Upper Arlington and the Individual title slot to Pete Sohl, the ace of the new state champions, who shot a fine 151, a new record for the 36-hole medal play. Upper Arlington shot an aggregate 658, to edge the defending champions from Toledo DeVillibus by two strokes.

Another pair of fine Cincinnati tennis stars—Norm Appel and Charles Thomas, of Cincinnati Hughes, took over the tennis doubles niche while Joe Pickering, of Youngstown Hayen, annexed the singles spot relinquished by Marshall Chambers, of Cincinnati Walnut Hills, two-time winner who was not eligible to compete this year. Pickering defeated Charles Sampson, of Waverly, in the finals while Appel and Thomas won the doubles crown by overcoming Bob Atsaro and Dick Barbaris, of Akron Garfield.

RUNYAN UPSETS GOLFING STARS, TRIES FOR OPEN

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, May 26—The Goodall Round Robin golf tournament is looked on by some as an indication of what is likely to happen in the National Open, but it didn't work out that way this time. Paul Runyan today held the title of 1941 Goodall champion and this was scarcely compatible with the broad general situation in the Open coming up at Fort Worth, Tex., June 5-7. A better, sturdier, more mechanical perfect golfer is expected to take the big prize.

Still, here is Runyan, twice a National Professional champion and now the Goodall titleholder hopeful of getting a place in the Open, the only catch being that he was to qualify today, if possible. He is not even an automatic qualifier, and had to spend some of the $1,000 check he received in the Goodall tournament yesterday for carfare from his home club in Ridgewood, N. J., where he will play his sectional qualifying rounds for the Open. His score was a plus 26. Sarazen and Ghezzi tied for second with plus 16s.

HERO AND GOAT

HEROES—Bobby Feller who struck out 13 batters as Cleveland beat St. Louis, 6 to 0; Robert (Lefty) Grove, who chalked up his 296th major league triumph by beating New York, 10 to 3; Pete Reiser, Brooklyn, who homered with the bases loaded, to spark the Dodgers' victory rally over Philadelphia.

GOAT—Hal Newhouse, Detroit pitcher, who blew a two-run lead and saw Chicago score seven runs in the seventh inning to swamp the Tigers, 7 to 3.

Cost of painting the Churchill Downs race track stands is estimated at $55,000.

FELLER'S FEAT HELPS INDIANS; REDLEGS EDGED

Rapid Robert Fans 13 Of Browns To Win 6-0; Detroit Booked

CLEVELAND, May 26—With Bob Feller in the role of head Yogi, the Cleveland Indians waved goodbye to an old hoodoo today and prepared for a two-game series with the Detroit Tigers before going on a short road trip.

Feller mixed a witches' broth yesterday of 13 strikeouts to disperse the St. Louis Browns, who have been haunting and beating the Tribesmen for a couple of seasons. The young fireballer gave the Browns goose eggs until the fifth when Don Heffner singled, then he let up and allowed six more, but he was never in trouble as the Indians clouted a 6-0 victory to sweep the three-game series with the Mound City club.

Three times, once with the bases loaded and none out, Bob set the side down on strikes. It was the Indians' fifth straight win and Feller's ninth, against two defeats. The 13 batters that Bob whiffed gave him his best strikeout record of the season. His previous 1941 mark was 12.

Bob wasn't the only distinguished tribe performer who made 20,888 fans happy. Jeff Heath cracked the first home run ever hit into the upper stands of the Cleveland Stadium since it was opened in 1932. And he also smashed a triple and a single to drive in two of the Indians' runs.

Johnny Allen, a former Tribesman, started on the mound for the Browns, but gave way for a pinch hitter after five runs had been scored.

Al Smith was Manager Roger Peckinpaugh's choice for a shot at six straight as Detroit Pilot Del Baker selected Buck Newsum to stop the Indians.

CINCINNATI, May 26—The 1941 edition of the World Championship Cincinnati Reds, 10½ games off the pace and only 4½ out of the basement, return to their home ballfield tonight, just a little dubious of the reception awaiting them.

They closed their road swing by dropping a 3 to 2 decision yesterday to the Chicago Cubs before 18,663 Windy City fans. Although Derringer allowed only six hits in hurling his usual sterling brand of ball, he was charged with his fifth loss of the season.

The Reds banged out nine safeties, including Ernie Lombardi's fourth circuit swat of the season, but most of the bingles were wasted. Lou Novikoff, who was anything but a dud in the Cincinnati series, homered for the Cubs.

The game was an even-Stephen, 2 to 2 affair until, with one out in the last of the ninth, Charlie George singled, driving home Billy Nicholson, who doubled, with the Cubs' winning tally.

Bucky Walters will try for his fifth triumph of the season tonight, facing Nick Strincevich of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

COUNCIL TO CONSIDER MEANS OF RAISING ADDITIONAL REVENUE

NEW TAX LEVY MAY BE NEEDED TO ADD POLICE

Mayor Cady Says Three New Men Must Be Put On Force July 31

STATE LAW IS CITED

Balance In Treasury Too Small To Carry Load Through Summer

A three-mill operating levy to provide the city with funds to operate will be considered by Circleville councilmen in a special session Wednesday night.

Council decided to hold a special meeting to consider the matter last Wednesday night after Mayor W. B. Cady informed them that effective July 31 the police department would have to add three men to its personnel in order to comply with the state law and still maintain 24-hour service. The state law, passed by the last legislature, rules that no police officer shall work more than eight hours of any 24. Mayor Cady told the council that unless additional men are added to the force, the city will have to go without police protection at least a part of the time.

According to reports from the City Auditor's office, the balance in the general fund is slightly over $2,500, which amount must run the city until October 1, when the next tax distribution is made. During the summer the city will receive an anticipated $3,000 from tangible and $3,000 from classified taxes. About $200 a month will come in from sales tax and $400 a month from fines, costs and bonds from the mayor's court.

Utility Bills Heavy

Outstanding light, water and gas bills, however, will drain heavily on that estimated amount, city officials fear.

The three-mill levy question was presented to Circleville voters at the November 5th election last fall, and failed to pass by 72 votes. A 65 percent vote is needed for passage of such a measure.

At Wednesday night's special session council also will consider a $2,000 bond issue to raise money to pay for the county garage building on East Ohio Street, recently purchased from the county commissioners.

Of the total bond issue, $1,300 is to be used for the purchase of the real estate on which the garage stands and $700 is to be used for additional construction and improvements on the building.

EX-SHERIFF, SON ADMIT SINGLE CHECK CHARGE

WASHINGTON C. H., May 26—Guilty pleas to an indictment charging them with obtaining signature to a $186 check under false pretense were filed Saturday by former Sheriff Henry W. Jones and his son, Perrill.

Both Jones and his son pleaded not guilty to other counts against them and were returned to county jail.

THOMPSON ON TRIAL

COLUMBUS, May 26—The first degree murder trial of Wayne Thompson, 23, charged with the hold-up slaying of Carl Hoover, east side grocery store manager, was to get underway today. Hoover was shot and killed while resisting a robbery attempt April 23. Fifty prospective jurors and 24 witnesses have been called for the trial, expected to last about four days.

8,750 ITALIAN TROOPS GIVE UP IN NORTH AFRICA

CAIRO, May 26—Mass surrender of 8,750 Italian troops in the northern sector of Abyssinia was officially announced in Cairo today.

Climaxing three days of fierce fighting, the Fascist forces, comprising an entire army column, capitulated along with 700 civilians who were with the Italian garrison.

Vast quantities of guns and munitions were seized by the British forces when they marched into the fallen stronghold whose officers ran up the flag of surrender just as the Duke of Aosta had done earlier last week at Amba Alagi.

Included in the captured war materials were seven artillery guns, 170 machine guns and great stores of munitions and motorized units.

Cairo quarters said the capture wiped out virtually the last remaining Italian resistance in northern Ethiopia.

ERNEST LITTLE TALKS TUESDAY AT C. C. MEETING

Farmers, farm representatives and Chamber of Commerce members Tuesday night will hear Ernest Little, managing director of the National Farm Chemurgic Council of Columbus, at a Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting in the American Hotel Hurricane.

The meeting will begin at 6:30. Mr. Little is expected to discuss the relationship of chemistry to agriculture, particularly as it relates to soybeans.

The meeting is under the direction of Herman Hill.

YOUTHFUL BALL PLAYERS WARNED OFF HIGHWAYS

Young ball players, Monday, were warned by Police Chief William McCrady to keep off the streets.

Ball games in the streets in several locations have hampered traffic and at the same time endangered the lives of the players, the chief pointed out.

The police department, Sunday, received three complaints on a group of boys playing ball at Pickaway and Watt Streets.

City ordinances prohibit the use of city streets for ball games and unless the violations are stopped, arrests will be made, Chief McCrady said.

"What was that?" asked Madame Lombard, worried by Mrs. Hornbeck's indignant eye, but not comprehending the "terrible faux pas."

"I said, everyone makes mistakes, my dear, even as they and me. I just wanted to call your attention, Helen, to the fact that I outrank Mrs. Murray on every occasion."

Dinner guests gasped, then hastily covered the confusion. Shortly after coffee was served, Mrs. Hornbeck departed.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Latest left-wing casualty in the bitter fight to oust left-wingers from high office in the American Newspaper Guild is Philip Connelly, Guild vice president and head of the California Industrial Union Council. The Los Angeles Guild turned him down as a delegate to the national convention in Detroit next month. Judge Ferdinand Pecora, one-time Wall Street investigator, annulled a marriage when the bride charged that her husband misrepresented himself as a U. S. citizen when he was actually a German national. "The plaintiff's avowed objection to marriage with one who bears willing allegiance to the Nazi regime," Pecora ruled, "finds ample support in the unhappy history written by Nazism and the blood and tears of millions of its victims."

MORE THEFTS LISTED

Two more theft cases were listed at police headquarters Monday. J. M. Hitt told police officers that someone broke into his candy truck on North Scioto Street and took two boxes of candy, and Delbert Puckett reported someone stole a spare tire and wheel from his 1929 Ford, parked at his home on Watt Street.

KINGSTON'S BIG PLANT IS USED

$132,000 Water Supply Unit Goes Into Operation During Week End

Following approval of the State Board of Health, Saturday, Kingston took over its $132,000 water plant and began operation immediately.

The new city water system was put in operation after the State Board of Health had notified Mayor W. R. Sheridan and the village waterworks board of control that the water and new plant met with all state requirements.

The WPA project was started last September. The village water supply is furnished by a 69-foot well at the rate of 168 gallons a minute and the softening and treatment plant has a capacity of 100,000 gallons.

The 100 foot pressure tank is located at the northwest edge of the village.

OHIO GATHERING OF METHODISTS OPENS TUESDAY

Methodist pastors for Pickaway County will be assigned at the spring session of the Ohio Annual Conference of the Methodist church, opening in Columbus Tuesday.

The meetings will be held in Memorial Hall and Broad Street Methodist Church. The opening session will be in Broad Street Church Tuesday at 2 p. m. Bishop H. Lester Smith of Cincinnati presiding.

Among the speakers at the conference will be Dr. Roy L. Smith of Chicago, editor of the Christian Advocate. He will speak at the Friday evening meeting, which is sponsored by lay members of the church, his subject being "A Methodist and Proud of It." Dr. Lester S. Ivins of Defiance, conference lay leader, will preside and the Ohio Annual Conference choir, directed by Grace Storey Simmonds, will sing.

Reading of the assignments is expected to be the last item on the conference program. Local Methodist pastors and laymen are expected to attend the conference.

Rural Home In Stout Family For 118 Years

A photo in Scott's Scrapbook, a feature of The Daily Herald, depicting a large home labeled "My Old Kentucky Home," has resulted in Frank M. Stout of Washington Township tracing the records of his home and disclosing that it has carried the name of Stout for 118 years.

Mr. Stout said that in his daily reading of The Herald he had read the Scrapbook item that said the Kentucky residence, which was built in 1818, has been occupied by but one family—the Rowans—until it was made an historic shrine in 1922. The Rowans occupied the property for 104 years.

"I thought this remarkable," he said, "and at once began to meditate how long we had carried the family name in our home in Washington Township."

The present brick structure now occupied by the owners, Miss Laura A. Stout and Frank M. Stout, was erected in 1836 by our grandfather, Jacob Stout, 105 years ago, this topping the Rowans by one year. But it should be remembered that Jacob Stout bought this tract of land in 1823 and lived here in a house adjacent to the present home, carrying the family name along at this habitation for 118 years.

"We are in possession of 'Letters Patent' printed and written on parchment and signed by the then-President James Madison, and by then-Secretary of State James Monroe and bearing the seal of the United States. This document shows the sale of this land by the government in 1811 to William Welker and transfer 12 years later to Jacob Stout."

Active In Township

Mr. Stout after completing his education in the district school twice passed the county teacher's examination and received certificates to teach in the district schools. He twice passed the civil service examination in Columbus for clerk in the state department. He served nine consecutive years as clerk of Washington Township and clerk of the board of education. In 1910 he was elected as real estate appraiser in his township. The following year he received an appointment as clerk entire, all of Washington Township. After retiring as a teacher Miss Stout gave much of her time to music and was a leading singer, organist and Sunday School teacher in her church for many years.

COUNCIL TO CONSIDER MEANS OF RAISING ADDITIONAL REVENUE

NEW TAX LEVY MAY BE NEEDED TO ADD POLICE

Mayor Cady Says Three New Men Must Be Put On Force July 31

STATE LAW IS CITED

Balance In Treasury Too Small To Carry Load Through Summer

A three-mill operating levy to provide the city with funds to operate will be considered by Circleville councilmen in a special session Wednesday night.

Council decided to hold a special meeting to consider the matter last Wednesday night after Mayor W. B. Cady informed them that effective July 31 the police department would have to add three men to its personnel in order to comply with the state law and still maintain 24-hour service. The state law, passed by the last legislature, rules that no police officer shall work more than eight hours of any 24. Mayor Cady told the council that unless additional men are added to the force, the city will have to go without police protection at least a part of the time.

According to reports from the City Auditor's office, the balance in the general fund is slightly over $2,500, which amount must run the city until October 1, when the next tax distribution is made. During the summer the city will receive an anticipated $3,000 from tangible and $3,000 from classified taxes. About $200 a month will come in from sales tax and $400 a month from fines, costs and bonds from the mayor's court.

Utility Bills Heavy

Outstanding light, water and gas bills, however, will drain heavily on that estimated amount, city officials fear.

The three-mill levy question was presented to Circleville voters at the November 5th election last fall, and failed to pass by 72 votes. A 65 percent vote is needed for passage of such a measure.

At Wednesday night's special session council also will consider a $2,000 bond issue to raise money to pay for the county garage building on East Ohio Street, recently purchased from the county commissioners.

Of the total bond issue, $1,300 is to be used for the purchase of the real estate on which the garage stands and $700 is to be used for additional construction and improvements on the building.

EX-SHERIFF, SON ADMIT SINGLE CHECK CHARGE

WASHINGTON C. H., May 26—Guilty pleas to an indictment charging them with obtaining signature to a $186 check under false pretense were filed Saturday by former Sheriff Henry W. Jones and his son, Perrill.

Both Jones and his son pleaded not guilty to other counts against them and were returned to county jail.

THOMPSON ON TRIAL

COLUMBUS, May 26—The first degree murder trial of Wayne Thompson, 23, charged with the hold-up slaying of Carl Hoover, east side grocery store manager, was to get underway today. Hoover was shot and killed while resisting a robbery attempt April 23. Fifty prospective jurors and 24 witnesses have been called for the trial, expected to last about four days.
